The ROUND TABLE offers a ground of dialogue with MEPs on the unsustainable practices behind the agro-food supply chain and the main characteristics that the recent 'Corporate Sustainability Due Diligence' proposed by the European Commission must have to overcome the existing gaps:

- Oxfam and WeWorld will present their recent studies on human and labour rights violations faced by women migrant workers in Europe (Italy) and the Global South. The speaker from Brazil will highlight the implications on climate justice.
- Policymakers, civil society, and youth ambassadors will discuss and comment on the recent proposed Directive and required amendments to effectively prevent abuses and ensure access to justice to the most vulnerable victims along the global value chains.

This event is part of the 'Our Food. Our Future' project aimed at empowering European youth to stand up for sustainable food supply chains.
